AUGUSTINIAN HERITAGE WITH SADNESS, GRATITUDE WE SAY GOODBYE TO REV. PAUL E. QUANTE, O.S.A.

It is with no small blend of sadness mixed with gratitude and joy that the Augustinian Province of St. Augustine in California announces the death of our brother, Rev. Paul Eugene Quante O.S.A. After several years of ill health Fr. Paul passed at St. Augustine's monastery on December 9, 2017. At a time when the Christian church is preparing to welcome the Savior, Fr. Paul is being welcomed into heaven. This is the reward for which he lived his entire life.

Paul was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on November 23, 1944 to Rita (Zimolzak) Quante and Jacob Earl Quante. His family practiced their faith in St. Francis of Assisi Church in (Germantown) Philadelphia. Paul attended William Penn Charter School from 1949 to 1962. In 1962 Paul began his studies at Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Virginia and completed his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1966. That same year he entered St. Charles

AUGUSTINIAN HERITAGE

Fr. Paul

Borromeo Seminary in Philadelphia, about which he unabashedly bragged that his departure three years later was a mutual discernment between him and the seminary staff.

Over the course of the next nine years, Paul worked as a teacher at Abington Friends School in Jenkintown, Pennsylvania, as well as a training manager for both Spiegel Catalogue and the Insurance Company of America. In 1978 Paul came to California to teach at St. Augustine High School in San Diego and entered the Augustinian pre-novitiate in San Francisco later that year. Having completed a year at the Augustinian novitiate in St. Louis, Missouri, Paul professed vows in 1980, solemn vows in 1983, and was ordained a priest at St. Patrick's Church in San Diego on September 15, 1984, by Bishop Leo Maher.

From 1984 until 1993, Fr. Paul was a teacher and Chair of the Religion Department at Villanova Prep School in Ojai, California. From 1993 to 1994, Fr. Paul was in residence at St. Joseph's parish in Roseburg, Oregon. During this period he completed the work necessary for a Masters of Divinity degree, which he received in 1994. For the next twenty-one years Fr. Paul was a priest in the Augustinian community of Our Lady of Grace in Castro Valley, California. For the first five years he served as associate pastor of the parish. For the seven years following that he was in priest supply ministry to the Diocese of Oakland. He again served as associate pastor of Our Lady of Grace parish in Castro Valley until ill-health forced him to retire to St. Augustine's Monastery in San Diego in 2015.

Fr. Paul enjoyed listening to classical music, and was a political junkie. He wanted his obituary to state that he was a "proud liberal." His best "sport" was conversation. While not being particularly gregarious, he loved gathering with others. Anyone who knew Fr. Paul knew that his association with two particular people was his greatest source of social nourishment --- his mother Rita Quante Caterson and his dear friend Peggy Cummings. When Paul's mother died, Peggy was the one who loved, nurtured and challenged him. She, her husband Gene and their two sons considered Paul the fifth member of their family.

A mass for Fr. Paul was celebrated at St. Augustine Chapel in San Diego (3266 Nutmeg St.) on Thursday morning, December 14. He will be buried in his family plot in Pennsylvania.

Please remember in your prayers Fr. Paul, the Augustinian family, the Cummings family, as well as all of his friends and former students and parishioners.

FOOTBALL, CROSS-COUNTRY ALL CIF ACADEMIC STUDENTS HAILED FOR 2017

The 33rd year of The San Diego Union-Tribune All-Academic Team has been announced. About 17,000 All-Academic Team certificates were awarded among the approximately 170,000 high school students in the San Diego Section.

The All-Academic Team honors juniors and seniors who participated in a California Interscholastic Federation-approved varsity sport and maintained a cumulative, weighted grade-point average of 3.0 or better.

Marks above 4.0 reflect grades from honors classes weighted on a 5.0 scale. Some school districts make more 5.0 classes available than others.

The Union-Tribune and the county Office of Education invited all San Diego Section schools to participate. The names and GPAs printed here were taken from information provided by the schools.

PREVIEW OF NEW ARTS CENTER

The proscenium stage is at the west end of the auditorium. Theatrical lighting will come from fixtures located in the north and south light lofts in the floor seating area, overhead rigging above the floor seats, and from fixtures hung on a pipe grid system above the stage. The control booth sits above the tiered seating at the east end front of house. Behind the stage area is a scene storage room and workshop for set construction.

The new music room is situated in the southeast part of the building and includes three individual practice rooms. Also located in this area are a digital media lab, instrument repair shop, instrument and percussion storage rooms. Dressing rooms (which may double as small classrooms) are at the southwest corner of the building.

Just south of the performing arts center is the weight training facility. At over 2100 square feet there will be ample room for a multitude of weight training equipment. Immediately east of the weight room and accessed by a roll up door is an outdoor training area fully covered by a trellis.

Construction is expected to be completed at the end of March.

To see status of construction to date see page 9.

SAINTS WRESTLERS

Besides gunning for a league title, Saints is also looking to improve on some recent successes. For two years in a row, the team has tied the school record of sending five wrestlers to Masters at the end of the season (the state qualifier tournament). This year, coaches are hoping to shatter that record with upwards of seven or eight wrestlers advancing out of CIF to Masters.

Leading the way for this year's team are senior captains Moi Pacheco and Tony Perez. Joining them are fellow seniors Jose Corral, Donovan Franco, and Roman Hendle. Juniors Christian Quinto, Francisco Downey, and Aldo Rabago help add depth to this year's squad. "I like the depth on this year's team," third-year coach Matt Linville said. "We have the necessary pieces to make some serious noise in league and at CIF this year. If a couple of our newcomers and underclassmen can step up, we're going to tough to beat."

Assistant Head Coach Moises Pacheco ('86), echoed Coach Linville's comments and specifically named newcomers Gino Campagna ('21), Christian Gaeta ('21), Dominic Pacheco ('21), and junior Roberto de la Herran ('19) as key ingredients to the team's success this year, and added, "I'm also just as excited about some of our sophomore returners, like Gustavo Reynoso, Wyatt Grau, and Adrian Ruz."

On a special note, senior captain Moi Pacheco has accumulated 87 wins (54 varsity) up to this point throughout his four-year career. Sometime around early January he will eclipse 100 career wins, which is a very special accomplishment. Not only will congratulations be in order, but the team would love nothing more than to see some large crowds cheering him this season in his quest for 100 career wins, a CIF title, a third trip to Masters, and an appearance at the state tournament.

FIRST GAME IN NEW GYM IS QUITE AN ADO

As often is the case, a school with a strong sense of its history, faith-based traditions and legendary alumni support, makes a “community event” out of ping pong match much less a once in a lifetime event. We speak of last month’s first basketball game played on St. Augustine Commons’ John Sanders Gymnasium.

To fracture Shakespeare we can say that recent first game—Saints vs. Grossmont High was a much ado about a noble high school game with Coach Mike Haupt’s varsity coming out on top.

Grossmont High was selected as a first opponent because it made a fitting book end to the Foothillers being the first team to challenge Saints back in the 1953 debut of Dougherty Gym.

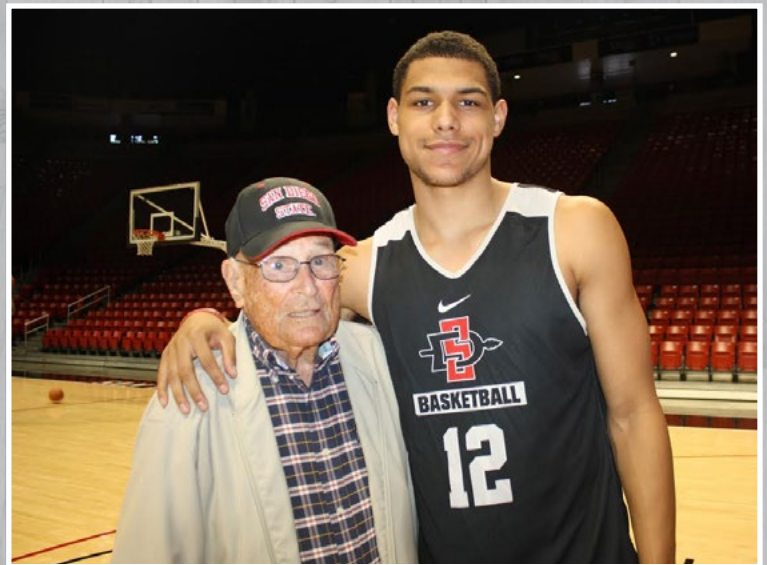

Those lucky enough to obtain one of the bespoke 2017 first game tickets were in the presence of Saints Community legends past, present and into the future.

Featured guests of the past were members of the Class of 1964. The school chose to name the hardwood court playing surface to honor the ‘64 alums for their notable fundraising efforts. Thanks to the Class of 1964 and so many other generous donors present and future Saintsman will compete inside a modern sports facility so named for the school’s late Principal Rev. John Sanders, O.S.A. ('66).

Let the games begin and continue.

A GAME OF FIRSTS. In a first ever game there are a lot of historic firsts like first free throw, first basket, first turn over and more important first win A 62-42 effort over Grossmont High.

THE ORIGINALS. Members of the first basketball team to play in Dougherty Gym: Hal Rover, ('52) and Eulogio "FUMO" Fos, ('53).

DEAR PARENTS AND FRIENDS

rush, finding the motivation to start anew can be challenging.

Students need motivation to learn. Yet, keeping students interested in school and motivating them to succeed are challenges that present themselves year after year to even the most seasoned teachers and parents.

High levels of motivation and engagement in learning have consistently been linked to increased levels of student success. Although the link between engagement and achievement may seem obvious, this issue frequently slips through the cracks in discussions about school/student improvement, yielding right of way to chatter about test scores and the rigors of curriculum.

Parents and teachers alike can and do affect students' level of engagement in learning. Simply put, by helping to build healthy self-esteem and self confidence, we give them a foundation for success, which in turn fosters motivation and engagement in school. Get a fresh start this New Year: take some time to motivate your student by sharing with him just how deeply you believe in him.

In the Spirit of Catholic Education,

James Horne
Principal

MOVING ALONG!

Text and photos by Steve Chipp

As we edge into the New Year, the interior of the new campus theater begins to resemble an auditorium and wall framing is now underway as overhead pipe and conduit placement continues in the weight room. Framing will continue into early January. The roof parapet wall (which is designed to hide the roof top mechanical units) is nearing completion and the roof over the auditorium is nearly finished.
